

Independent Study Guidelines

Neural Science majors doing research in a neural science lab may be eligible for independent study credit.

To apply for this credit, students must write a proposal that includes the following:

- Student Name
- Name of the Lab
- Number of Credits Desired (1-4)
- Number of Hours Estimated to Work in the Lab per week
- Project supervisor (P.I., post-doc, etc.)
- Brief description of the project

Students should email this proposal to the Director of Undergraduate Studies no later than one week into the semester for which the independent study credit is being sought. For example, Spring 2015 classes start on Monday January 26, 2015, so all proposals must be received by Monday February 2, 2015.

The Director of Undergraduate Studies will review the proposal and, if it is approved, will email both the student and the student's academic advisor, who will be able to assist with getting the project officially registered.

Proposals to receive credit for work done in previous semesters will not be accepted.